DeKalb County School District Principal Advisory Council Bylaws SY 2023-2024

Welcome Letter from the Division of Community Empowerment, Innovation, & Partnerships

Principal Advisory Council Members,

Thank you for volunteering your time and talent to the work of the Principal Advisory Council (PAC), formerly termed a School Council. The work you and your fellow Council members will accomplish over the next school year is appreciated by the DeKalb County School District and deeply valuable to the students in your school.

These bylaws have been designed through extensive community input. After surveys, focus groups, a public comment period and input from the DeKalb Board of Education members, we are happy to present them to you. We hope they will provide the PACs across the District the structure and support they need to succeed. We also look forward to the annual public review process which will allow the bylaws to be adapted annually to meet the developing needs of our students and communities.

Through sharing your insights, experiences and creativity with your principal, your PAC can improve both student achievement and school climate/culture. PAC suggestions over the years have led to academic improvements such as additional school programs, cultural enrichment opportunities, and increased levels of community involvement such as new business and university partnerships.

Again, we thank you for working for the betterment of the students of DeKalb County School District. We look forward to supporting you in your role.

Best Regards,

Kina M. Champion

An Overview of the DeKalb County School District

DeKalb County School District (DCSD) was established in 1873 when the county residents raised $4,200 to open three first through seventh grade public schools, Scottsdale, Bouldercrest and Southwest. The largely agrarian community was known for its granite quarries at Stone Mountain and Soapstone Ridge as well as the many dairy farms which dotted the landscape. By the 1970's the lush farmland had been replaced by a vibrant series of bedroom communities that supported the growing city of Atlanta as well as a number of smaller cities across the 270 square mile county.

Today, DeKalb County is one of the most diverse counties in the southeast and is home to over 700,000 residents who hail from over 155 nations. Primarily a suburban county, it has become the second-most-affluent county with an African-American majority in the United States, behind Prince George's County, Maryland.

The DeKalb County School District is Georgia's third largest school system. Under the leadership of Superintendent Cheryl Watson-Harris and the Board of Education, we prepare students for college and careers through a laser focus on rigorous, relevant classroom instruction related to each child's needs.

The District serves over 93,000 students in 140+ schools and centers and employs over 15,500 faculty and staff. DCSD is a leader in Science, Technology, Engineering and Math (STEM) curriculum with 10 STEM certified schools and over 90 schools with STEM programs. The District also offers over 40 school choice options to families to include theme, magnet, International Baccalaureate, charter, and Montessori options.

DCSD Principal Advisory Councils (PAC) Introduction

The purpose of the Principal Advisory Council (PAC) is to bring parents, school employees, students and community members together to create a better understanding of and mutual respect for each other's perspectives and share ideas for increasing student achievement and performance.

Such councils were mandated by Georgia law in 1998 but the concept was not well defined. In the following decades, many Georgia school districts ceased supporting councils in meaningful ways. However, in 2016, the DeKalb Board of Education, as part of their flexibility contract with the Georgia Department of Education, authorized a re-invigoration of the advisory council concept. District staff conducted parent, staff and leadership surveys as well as numerous community and parent focus groups to determine how councils could be structured to best support student learning. National and state best practices in the areas of governance as well as learnings from the District's own charter schools were examined in the light of recent research on parent engagement and social capital.

The following frameworks represent over a year of work and discussion on the part of staff and District stakeholders. A living document, the processes and practices detailed here will be constantly revised to ensure that these avenues for stakeholder collaboration and learning will remain open and effective to the benefit of our students.

- A civil penalty or criminal fine not to exceed $2,500.00 per violation may be imposed for each additional violation that the violator commits within a 12-month period from the date that the first penalty or fine was imposed.

Appendix D: Ad Hoc Construction Advisory Committees (CAC)

Construction Advisory Committee. Construction Advisory Committees (CAC) are ad hoc committees established by Principal Advisory Councils. An ad hoc committee is a committee formed for a specific task or objective. It is dissolved after the completion of the task or achievement of the objective. Principal Advisory Councils may create, at their discretion, ad hoc committees of Council members, parents, staff, and community members to assist in developing and reviewing school initiatives in support of the school's Continuous Improvement Plan.

- The Principal Advisory Council shall establish such committees by a majority of the vote of its members in an open meeting.
- No committee will perform the full duties and responsibilities, or stand in the place of, the Principal Advisory Council.
- No committee may include a quorum of the Principal Advisory Council members.
- The principal or his/her designee shall be an ex officio member of all committees.
- Principal Advisory Council committees are subject to the requirements of Georgia's Open Meetings Laws.
- Committees do not take action but do report their work to the Principal Advisory Council.
- Ad hoc committees shall operate for a finite time frame.

CAC Goal. To increase stakeholder and community engagement in the design, planning, and construction phases of significant capital improvement projects. Significant capital improvement projects are those projects in the E-SPLOST program which meet at least one of the two following criteria:

- a) Include the addition of classroom or major space (e.g., auditorium), or
- b) Feature a single renovation project that has a value greater than $3 million.

CAC Purpose. To attend Operations Design and/or Construction Team meetings and advise Operations staff on matters related to: parking, core spaces, impact of improvement options on school climate and culture, impact of the construction phasing, the balance of competing need for land amongst athletic fields, parking, and other school design features, etc. Instructional programming is not within the purview of the CAC. However, Council members, parents, staff, and community members may provide input to the District on instructional programming via communications with the principal.

Composition. The Construction Advisory Committee shall be composed of 5 members (not including the principal who serves as an ex officio member). At least two members of the CAC shall be Principal Advisory Council members. The CAC may include non-Principal Advisory Council members and/or parents and community members of feeder schools, but total CAC membership may not exceed five members. Membership of the CAC may not represent a quorum of the Principal Advisory Council. Individuals may serve on no more than one (1) CAC at a given time.

The Chair of the Construction Advisory Committee must be a member of the Principal Advisory Council. The CAC Chair shall be nominated by the Principal Advisory Council and approved by the remaining voting Council members in an open meeting. The Principal Advisory Council shall also designate a Recording Secretary to record the minutes of each Construction Advisory Committee meeting. The Recording Secretary shall provide minutes for each CAC meeting to the full Council at the next regularly scheduled Principal Advisory Council meeting.

The Principal Advisory Council whose school is the recipient of the significant capital improvement project shall select each member of the CAC. To select a CAC member, the Principal Advisory Council nominates an individual parent or community member in an open meeting. The nomination must be seconded and approved by a majority vote of the Principal Advisory Council members.

A call for candidates should be initiated shortly after the Request for Proposal (RFP) for the architect. The Principal Advisory Council will post the DCSD-created CAC announcement and electronic candidate interest form to the school website at least 3 three weeks prior to the Principal Advisory Council meeting at which CAC member selection will occur. As a best practice, the announcement and a link to the candidate interest form should be sent to the feeder schools for posting on those schools' websites.

Criteria. The ideal Construction Advisory Committee member will be a parent or community member with a professional background or interest in the following areas: architecture, engineering, construction, planning and design, or K-12 education.

Commitment. Participation in the CAC may require a 1-3 year commitment. In extenuating circumstances, a significant capital improvement project may require up to 5 years to complete. The CAC Chair and one additional member of the CAC should be available to attend the District's monthly Design and/or Construction Team meetings with the principal during normal business hours (8:00am-5:00pm) at the Sam Moss Service Center. If the CAC Chair is not able to attend Design and/or Construction Team meetings, he or she shall designate another member of the CAC to attend in his or her place.

Vacancies. A CAC member may resign at any time. Such resignation must be expressed and submitted to the Principal Advisory Council Chair in writing unless waived by majority vote of the Principal Advisory Council. The Principal Advisory Council's acceptance of the resignation will not be necessary to make it effective. Any CAC member may be removed from the CAC by a 2/3 vote of the Principal Advisory Council for lack of attendance, not performing CAC duties, loss of eligibility, not following the Design and/or Construction Team meeting behavioral and operational standards, or being in violation of Conflict of Interest provisions. CAC vacancies must be filled no later than 30 days from the departing member's removal or resignation. The replacement member will be nominated and approved by a majority vote of the Principal Advisory Council using the same process described in the "Composition" section above.

Training. Principals, Principal Advisory Council Chairs, and at least two CAC members must complete mandatory in-person training facilitated by the Operations Division and School Innovation Department prior to the first CAC meeting. All CAC members must complete a Conflict of Interest form and submit the form to the School Innovation Department before the first CAC meeting.

Meetings. Construction Advisory Committee meetings are separate and distinct from the Design and/or Construction Team meetings.

Design and/or Construction Team

- Design and/or Construction Team meetings are typically monthly and are attended by the Principal, the CAC Chair (or his/her designee), and 1 additional member of the CAC.
- Operations staff will develop the Design and/or Construction Team meeting agendas, lead the meetings, and determine when to discontinue these meetings.
- Operations may choose to invite additional stakeholders to attend the Design and/or Construction Team meetings or gather input from additional stakeholders via a public comment agenda item. This may include parents and community members of feeder schools.
- Operations staff will establish and enforce behavioral and operational standards for all Design and Construction Team meeting participants.
- Notes from the Design and Construction team meetings shall be recorded by the architect and shared with the CAC Chair for distribution to the CAC and full Council.

Construction Advisory Committee

- The CAC may convene CAC meetings as often as necessary to conduct its business.
- CAC Committee meetings are subject to Open Meetings laws, and CAC members shall adhere to all provisions therein to include agendas, meeting notifications, etc.
- The Construction Advisory Committee may choose to invite representatives from the District's Design and Construction Team, regional staff, or stakeholders from feeder pattern schools to regularly scheduled CAC meetings.
- The CAC Recording Secretary shall record minutes for CAC meetings and present those minutes to the full Principal Advisory Council at the next regularly scheduled Principal Advisory Council meeting.

Finite Timeframe. The Operations Division shall contact the School Innovation Department when the RFP for the architect for a significant capital improvement project is issued. School Innovation Department will notify the Principal Advisory Council Chair to establish a CAC. The CAC shall not be involved in any aspect of the RFP process. The CAC should hold its first meeting within 30 days after the issuance of the notice to proceed (NTP) to the architect for such project. The CAC shall end upon the architect's submission and the Operation Division's acceptance of the Substantial Completion Certificate.

Note: Except for the specific flexibility granted in this appendix for PAC composition, non-traditional schools shall follow all other compliance guidelines, legal requirements, and articles/appendices outlined in the PAC bylaws.

Appendix G: Best Practice Suggestions

The diversity of DCSD is one of its many strengths. To capitalize on that strength, there are many different best practices PACs may choose to employ. These are not required and may be employed in addition to the minimum expectations outlined in these Bylaws. While not a comprehensive list, these alternatives are merely included to foster a discussion on the PAC. As the PACs in the District continue to share best practices via the Cluster Councils, this list will grow.

Organizational Best Practices

- Targeted Member Appointment Process: Using the CSIP as a basis, the PAC identifies those member skills or characteristics which would best support the school. A self-assessment of sitting members then determines which skills sets might be better represented and the appointed members are recruited based on those lagging skills or characteristics.
- Balanced Membership Processes: Employing a combination of committee leadership, term limits and broad marketing of open seats, these three approaches can encourage a steady supply of fresh but informed volunteers to compliment the experienced members on the PAC.
- Goal Setting: Although the school will have a sets of goals and targets in the CSIP, PACs can also set goals and targets for themselves to help focus the work and improve operations. Using SMART goals, the PACs can work toward improving community engagement levels, acquiring business partners or improving climate survey scores. The required self-assessment can point the way to development goals for the PAC itself.
- Leadership Development: Avoid having the same members in leadership positions for more than one term. Giving new members the opportunity to learn the leadership roles is a great way to encourage new ideas, prevent that “clique” feeling which can discourage participation from new families or teachers, and allow experienced leaders to provide support to new leaders before students matriculate out of the school.
- Development of Committees and Taskforces: Using these less intensive structures to address specific issues can be a great vehicle to bring in new parents, teachers or business partners who might want to participate in smaller ways. It will also broaden the set of insights that can be offered to the principal.
- Regular Communication: Setting a regular weekly or bi-weekly time for the Principal/Chair to coordinate before the actual PAC meeting will make sure that the agendas are aligned with school needs and the principal comes prepared with the information that PAC might need to see.

Community Engagement Best Practices

- Support a Welcoming Climate: Gathering a set of ‘welcome materials’ to for members to use when in the community to ensure the “good news” about the school is readily available and widely distributed in the general community can go a long way to build good will and support of the school. Sending out “thank you” notes from the PAC to people who have supported the school, everyone from the mail delivery person to the neighbors who always have cars parked on the street during Open House night will garnish good will for the school.
- Document School Supporters: To avoid always going to the same vendor or volunteer team, keep a running list of those people and organizations who support the school and rotate requests for support. Recognize the more outstanding partners with certificates of appreciation to hang in their business and ask the principal to mention them in the school newsletter or on the website. Don't forget the PTA, PTO, boosters or other parent organizations who work in the school. They need support and encouragement from the PAC as well.

- Open the School to the Community: The PACs can arrange to bring in outside training resources for staff, parents, or their own members. The District has a wealth of departments who are happy to present. Community contacts are often eager and excited to play a role in the public school. Everything from fun, "team building" training for the PAC, staff or volunteers to more intensive academic or instructional resources can be of value to the school in support of the CSIP.
- Communicate with the Parents and Broader Community: Make sure the PAC is mentioned in the State of the School Address and plays a role in the any well-attended events. It can be something small like having the Chair introduce the principal at the spring band concert or more significant like speaking on behalf of the school at the local chamber of commerce or city council meeting. When the community know the PAC exists, it is much easier to engage them in the school.
